

- The Building Democracy in Ukraine Project is a Canadian and Ukrainian partnership, supported by the Canadian International Development Agency (CIDA) and Queen's University, to provide Ukraine with a comprehensive program of professional and post-secondary education about democracy and human rights.
- The goal is to provide Ukraine with the capacity to deliver a self-sustaining program of education that will foster and strengthen commitment to liberal-democratic values and the processes of liberal-democratic governance among citizens and elites.
- ILID's task:
a web-portal development, launch, support and coordination;
training in distance learning – materials and technology;
conferences delivery support.
A web portal is to become a “virtual association” for educators and researchers who want to develop education about democracy in Ukraine: www.edportal.org.ua
